

Khansa Irfan is a third year Undergraduate student majoring in Health studies under the Faculty of Kinesiology and Health studies. She is also pursuing a minor in Psychology, Kinesiology and Economics. She is currently the Women's director at URSU and one of the executives of the UR Amnesty international club.

On campus, she is also a member of the UR international peer Advisor team, UR Ambassador, Pre-medicine club, the Astronomy club and University of Regina Women's action group. In the past, she has also been an actively involved in the U-pass campaign, Relay for life and Man Up Against Violence initiatives. Off campus, she volunteers at the Regina General hospital as a Pediatric volunteer. Her future ambitions include a career in Medicine or Physical Therapy. In her free time, she likes cooking, travelling, curling and painting.