

My name is Shawn Wiskar, a 4th year justice studies major with a passion for student issues. Over my past two years working for the URSU executive, I have revamped and rejuvenated many crucial areas of URSU. I began as the primary student advocate working diligently to raise the profile of student issues such as discrimination or inequalities within the faculties. I worked with my other exec's to expand this portfolio with the creation of a full time URSU advocate, the expansion of the emergency bursary program, and the creation of the URSU Cares pantry and breakfast program. In my second year at URSU, I focused my attention on revamping clubs and campus policy. Single-handedly overseeing the implementation of the URSU Vibe system, I worked to ensure students could access resources, funding, and events simultaneously. I also had the fortune to work as the sole student voice on issues of sexual assault, smoking, and marijuana. Over the past two years, I worked to ensure your voice was heard in room's where it has been traditionally ignored. As president, I want to build on two years of success in the student union and help undo mistakes of the past. I will no longer tolerate a culture of harassment being directed towards our membership by URSU spokesperson. Under my leadership, we will become a transparent union to show the students that we are working for them! Under my leadership URSU will recover your $150,000 spent on the CFS annually and invest it back into you.
