

My name is Rishabh Dutta, I am a fourth year petroleum engineering student from India. I moved to Canada with the hopes of getting a higher education, and hopefully starting my career as an engineer here. Now that I have spent time in Canada, stayed involved with numerous extracurricular activities and school-hosted events; I believe I can provide a valued input to better lead the student body.

As an international student I am empathetic with any student that has to the University of Regina has to live away from home. I believe there can be incremental changes that can create major improvement with the quality of life as students.

These changes can be made quicker and better by allowing for easier access to communication with The University of Regina's Student Union and the entirety of the student population, especially those who are too afraid to step forward.

My past experiences in Student Governments like URSU as the Engineering Director, and RESS as VP External Affairs are prime examples of how well I can be the voice for students. I have also been trying to achieve positive change in the UR Cougar Racing, Indian Student Society, the URSU Investment Committee, and the URSU Human Resources Committee. I have maintained strong values, and commit to role as being a admirable representation of the University of Regina's Student Community. I hope we have a great year together.
