

My name is Kiegan Lloyd I am a third year honours student in History at Luther College at the University of Regina. While I love spending my time here at university, I also enjoy volunteering. For example, I am the student representative for Luther College on the Faculty of Arts Council and I sit on the Faculty of Arts Student Appeals Committee as well. Besides that, I volunteer my time in the Ukrainian community and also at the Regina Public Library as a EAL tutor. To add, I work as a Research Assistant in the History Department and a Writing Tutor at the Student Success Centre. If you have not noticed I am pretty well connected to the University of Regina. Just for your information, I am the biggest nerd you will meet! I not only write papers for fun, I hope to obtain three doctorates: Late Medieval and Early Modern History, Educational Administration and Leadership and Dance Studies. Ultimately, learning and intellectual growth are two of my biggest passions in life and I hope to help bring this passion to students' here at the University of Regina and in the community at large!
